DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed on October 20, 2006 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1): The Form PTO-1449 is missing. However, the US 6,374,942 to Huggins have been already considered and cited in Form PTO-892 mailed on April 19, 2006.

The information disclosure statement has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the plurality of acoustical speakers, as described in claim 11, and the inner portion having a diameter equal to the outer portion, as described in claim 13, must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 11 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The claims describe the ring being adapted to receive a second acoustical speaker and the use of a plurality of speakers, and wherein the inner portion has a diameter equal to the outer portion, respectively, the subject matter is not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Claim Objections

4. Claim 14 is objected to because of the following informalities:

- In line 2, before "inner diameter" should read - - an - - instead of "the".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 10 – 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chang (US 5,960,095) in view of Bertram et al. (US 4,015,884).

With respect to claims 10 and 18, Chang teaches a speaker (Figs. 2 and 3, Item 20) inserted into an enclosure (figs. 2 and 3, Item 10) wherein the speaker could gyrate or rotate around the inner perimeter of the enclosure (Figs.2 and 3., Col.2, Lines 11 - 48), but fails to disclose a bearing bracket that would attach the speaker to the enclosure perimeter.

Nevertheless, Bertram et al. teach a supporting bracket comprising a ring comprising an outer portion (Fig.1, Item 11), an inner portion (Fig.1, Item 10), and a channel (Fig.1, Items 12 and 13) therebetween; a plurality of bearings (Fig.1, Item 16) disposed within the channel, wherein the inner portion is rotatable relative to the outer portion and wherein the inner portion is adapted to receive a device, a first securing portion (Fig.1) disposed on the inner portion, the first securing portion being adapted to secure the device to the inner portion; and a second securing portion (Fig.1), the second securing portion being adapted to secure the ring to another device (Col.1, Line 64 – Col.2, Line 59).

It would have been obvious to a person with ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to employ the Bertram et al. bearing bracket to attach the Chang speaker to its enclosure because it would facilitate the rotation of the speaker to a desired position, increasing the performance of the speaker by easily adjusting the directivity of the speaker.

With respect to claims 11 - 17, the examiner considers that the obvious combination Chang and Bertram et al. teach the limitations described in the claims (Chang: Figs.2 and 3; Col.2, Lines 11 - 48, and Bertram et al.: Figs.1 - 4). In addition, it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex Parte Masham, 2 USPQ F.2d 1647 (1987); furthermore, it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed on September 19, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Examiner still considers that the obvious combination of Chang and Bertram et al. still teach the limitations described in the claims. The Examiner has employed the Chang reference to disclose wherein it is well known to provide a speaker system with a rotational characteristic, in order to enhance their directivity performance; furthermore, the Bertram et al. reference has been used to disclose the bearing bracket structure which is employed to attach a plurality of devices that based on their application and/or design are desired to rotate one in respect to the other, any person with ordinary skill in the art would acknowledge that by providing the Chang design with the Bertram et al. bearing bracket would facilitate the rotation of the speaker system.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
